Discussion:

- The ROSC Council first In-Person meeting began with networking and introductions. Daryl opened the meeting by thanking everyone for their presence and participation, and shared that his new role will have him take a slight step back from the ROSC while handing over the reins to the KYC Team. Jazsmin will lead the team as supervisor, and Jesus and Stephanie will remain co-coordinators. Daryl will continue to attend the meetings as his schedule allows, and will also remain a resource for the team.
- Tony then provided a training session, "Risk Assessment and Crisis Intervention Skills." This training educated the Council Members on suicide statistics, the intersectionality of suicidal ideation and mental illness, recognizing destructive behaviors, the warning signs of suicide, and how to respond to suicidality. Two key takeaways included acronyms that can assist in times of crisis:
    - WAIT: Why Am I Talking? This notion reminds the interventionist that the person in crisis should be doing more talking than the interventionist.
    - SLAP: Specific Details of the Plan, Lethality of the Plan, Availability of the Method, and Proximity of Assistance or Help. This acronym breaks down risk assessment into an easy to remember format, providing the interventionist with a shorter framework to gauge risk.

- The Council Members then had an engaging Q&A session where ideas were shared, and Daryl asked "What else can we do as a ROSC for the Council Members?"
    - The Newsletter project was discussed, and it was suggested that each month a different ROSC Council Member is highlighted. The Council agreed this is a good idea.
    - Natalie shared an idea where educational materials (such as pre-recorded webinars, presentations, or flyers) can be shared on school district parent portals.
        - Ali shared that Hubspot, the social media posting platform she uses professionally, has a similar section for content like this.
        - KYC has a learning management system (LMS) already available for content such as this. We would just need to create the content.
        - Padlet, another hosting platform, was shared as well. This is more of a "bulletin board" for flyers than for hosting recordings.
    - To help promote cross-collaboration among the Council, we will create a contact list with bios. More to follow on this project.
        - Follow Up: Internal Contact List with short bios of Council Members
